From the cover, "Augusta's 282-year history is written in the architecture of her churches, homes, mills, and commercial and public buildings. These survivors of changing times are featured within the pages of this volume. They mark Augusta's fascinating historical path from a frontier river crossing to the modern Riverwalk, from Dennis Redmond's plantation farmhouse to the world-famous Augusta National Clubhouse, and from Oglethorpe's crude Fort Augusta to Augusta University's Cyber Institute.

Augusta is filled with contemporary and archival photographs and numerous maps illustrating its long and remarkable history. It features a portfolio of the most notable sites, beautifully capturing their essence and
