National Preservation Conference to take place in Savannah November 11-14

Mark your calendars for the National Preservation Conference November 11-14, 2014, in Savannah, Georgia!

The National Trust for Historic Preservation plans this annual conference to bring together professionals and enthusiasts of historic preservation and various related fields. It is an opportunity to mingle with friends new and old, attend educational sessions and workshops, and enjoy scheduled tours focusing on the host city's utilization of preservation practices and promotion. Registration for the conference opens July 1st. If you are interested in receiving more information about the conference, you can follow the link below to the conference homepage. If you have been interested in attending in years past but the travel distance has been too great, this is the ideal year to become familiar with the National Trust for Historic Preservation and other local and statewide focus of the program will be the Turpin Hill neighborhood and Shiloh Comprehensive Community Center. The event will begin with a keynote lecture on Friday, June 20 at 6:30 pm at Williams Memorial CME Church by Zena Howard, AIA, LEED AP, Principal Perkins + Will (formerly The Freelon Group, Inc.). A reception will follow. The event continues on Saturday, June 21 at 9 am with a ramble of neighborhood sites, a panel discussion of local residents, and a picnic lunch at Shiloh Community Center. Reservations are $15 per person. For more information, and to RSVP, contact Historic Augusta at 706-724-0436 or Lucy Craft Laney Museum at 706-724-3576.
